

FAQ's

- What is the vision of the 100 Senior Honorary program?
 - The program is administered by the Office of Alumni Engagement, and seeks to recognize and honor the most fully engaged students who will become engaged alumni. These students have made a significant impact on the Emory community through academics, athletics, leadership, volunteerism, or even through personal relationships such as mentoring or helping other students. The vision is that the final group will reflect the diversity and the impact of the undergraduate classes.

- Who is eligible for the 100SH?
 - All students receiving a baccalaureate degree who are eligible to walk in the May 2019 commencement exercises.

- Who can nominate?
 - Nominations are accepted from Emory students, staff, faculty, and alumni. Self-nominations will not be considered. The strongest nominations come from a diversity of nominators.

- How can nominations be submitted?
 - Nominations must be submitted via the online form at alumni.emory.edu/100SH on or before the published deadline.
 - Nominators should remember to ask for the student's resume ahead of time as this will help you include updated and detailed information on the student you wish to nominate. Please upload the student's resume to the nomination form.
 - Nominators should consider the student's impact in the following areas before starting the nomination form:
 - Commitment to Emory University
 - Legacy on campus
 - Involvement and interest in diversity and inclusion
 - Potential for continued Emory involvement after graduation
 - Other exceptional contributions to the Emory community

- What is the timeline for nominations and notifications?
 - Dates vary each year, but nominations are open from early-October through mid-November of the academic year preceding graduation. The honorees will be notified over winter break (December 2018.)
 - The 100 Senior Honorary Class of 2019 Induction will be held in January 2019

- How are selections made?
 - Selections are made by the selection committee. The committee evaluates the nominee based on the criteria in the nomination packet. Because this is an impact award, GPA is not factored into the decision as long as the student is in good academic standing. This means, quality nominations with succinct examples of the value and impact the student has made at Emory is greatly appreciated. The committee values varied nominators for each nominee, thus campaigning for a student is not helpful or encouraged.

- Who is on the committee?
 - o The selection committee is comprised of at least 8 Emory staff members from Campus Life academic departments, and the Oxford College, Emory College, Business and Nursing undergraduate areas. This committee will also receive input from former inductees. Lastly, the final group of potential honorees will be reviewed through the student conduct and honor council to confirm good academic standing.

- (For Nominees) What happens if I receive this honor? What is expected of me?
 - o Honorees are expected to stay involved, invested and promote inspiration amongst their peers and fellow Emory alumni. This means serving as alumni leaders and maintaining strong ties with University, Emory constituents, and other alumni in many different ways. Past 100 Senior Honorary members have shown this commitment by serving as mentors, admission representatives, career contacts, chapter leaders, and reunion leaders, as well as serving on national leadership boards and in other volunteer capacities.
