Why Travel with Emory?

The Emory Travel Program is dedicated to giving travelers enriching cultural experiences to enhance their lifelong education while strengthening their connection with each other and with Emory.

Savings for our trips are accepted on a first-come-first-served basis, according to the allotted availability as designated by our travel vendors. Programs fill up very quickly, so it’s wise to lock in your reservation as soon as possible. As with all travel, we strongly suggest that reservations be made approximately 6–8 months prior to departure. Due to the nature of group trips, participants may be charged a surcharge and are confirmed at the discretion of the vendor. For last-minute reservations, a surcharge may be required, and reservations attempted 45 days or fewer before departure are subject to availability. All reservations must be accompanied by the designated deposit.

Cancellations and Refunds

All Emory Travel Program participants are subject to cancellation policies governing the particular program for which they have enrolled. All cancellation requests must be submitted in writing. Travel insurance is highly recommended for all Emory Travel Program participants and will be made available for purchase after a reservation has been made.

Brochure Requests

Brochures typically are printed 6–9 months in advance and will be sent to you when available. To guarantee that you receive information about trips that are of interest to you, please contact the Emory Travel Program. These are two easy ways to request a brochure:

- Contact the Emory Travel Program at 404.727.7150.
- Email your brochure request to alumnitravel@emory.edu.

Tour Costs

Dates, schedules, program details, and prices in this brochure are based on information provided by our travel vendors as of September 2017 and are subject to change. Please note that all prices quoted are per person, based on double occupancy, and are exclusive of airfare transportation unless otherwise noted.

Cancellations and Refunds

All Emory Travel Program participants are subject to cancellation policies governing the particular program for which they have enrolled. All cancellation requests must be submitted in writing. Travel insurance is highly recommended for all Emory Travel Program participants. All reservations must be accompanied by the designated deposit to be considered.

Who Is Eligible?

While the Emory connection is an important component of our programs, our trips are open to all travel enthusiasts including alumni, family members and friends of graduates, as well as friends of the University who would like to partake in educational travel opportunities. We occasionally offer trips designed specifically with families in mind. The majority of our programs are planned for an adult audience with an interest in educational travel. If you have questions about the suitability of a certain trip’s itinerary for children, please contact the Emory Travel Program.

Physical Requirements

All Emory Travel Program trips are considered active and moderately strenuous. Therefore, the program requires participants to be physically fit and in good health. A typical trip may involve an average of one to three miles of walking each day, often on uneven terrain where stairs are generally unavailable or do not have handrails.

Many of the sites that we visit have very limited access for those with impaired mobility. Anyone requiring assistance with mobility must be accompanied by someone who can and will provide assistance. Participants should have sufficient stamina to keep pace with an active group of travelers on long days of touring. If your mobility is limited, prior to beginning your trip we will be glad to work with our travel vendors to find out what aspects of the program would be accessible to you and what you may have to forgo. We also can attempt to find out what special accommodations might be arranged for you at additional cost.

For further information on specific trip requirements, please contact the Emory Travel Program at 404.727.7150.

Single Travelers

All of our programs offer a limited number of accommodations for single travelers on a first-come-first-served basis for an additional fee.

Travel Insurance

In the event you need to cancel your trip for an unforeseen reason, we strongly suggest that you purchase travel insurance. It is highly recommended for all Emory Travel Program participants. Contact a reputable travel insurance provider for more information.

Questions?

If you have questions about the suitability of a certain trip’s itinerary for children, please contact the Emory Travel Program.

Why Travel with Emory?
The Emory Travel Program is dedicated to giving travelers enriching cultural experiences to enhance their lifelong education while strengthening their connection with each other and with Emory.

Reservations for our trips are accepted on a first-come-first-served basis, according to the allotted availability as designated by our travel vendors. Programs fill up very quickly. To increase your chances of securing a spot on one of our trips, we strongly suggest that reservations be made approximately 6–8 months prior to departure. Trips are subject to price changes and are confirmed at the discretion of the vendors. Reservations attempted 45 days or fewer before departure are subject to availability. All reservations must be accompanied by the designated deposit to be considered.

By traveling with Emory you will be able to explore regions in every corner of the world. Our itineraries feature an exciting blend of exotic destinations and traditional locales. The trips are led by experienced guides, talented faculty, and the most respected travel vendors in the industry to bring you high-quality opportunities to broaden your cultural and intellectual horizons.

That way, our dedicated, enthusiastic, and energetic travelers directly empower the Emory Travel Program to continue offering amazing travel opportunities around the world.
