The Emory College Alumni Board seeks to provide a representative alumni body that will work collaboratively with the College Dean’s Office and with Arts and Sciences Development to provide leadership for developing new programs that engage alumni and promote participation; support Emory’s annual fundraising efforts, including scholarships and targeted projects, and advance the school and its academic mission. Qualities considered important for effective Board members include:

- Strong proven leadership both to Emory and the broader community.
- Commitment to active participation in activities sponsored by both the College and the wider University.
- Commitment to attend all Board meetings and fully participate in committee work.
- Commitment to serve as a conduit for wider alumni, student, parent, faculty, and community involvement in the University. Board members should set positive examples for fellow alumni.
- Excellent communication skills.
- Diversity in terms of geography, age, sex, race, ethnicity, etc.
- Commitment to the College as demonstrated through an annual financial contribution at the Lamplighter level or higher (although the nominating committee will consider all nominees based on the above priority qualifications)

The nomination deadline for the Emory College Alumni Board is January 17, 2008 (although nominations are taken year round). Applications should consist of this Nomination Form and up to two optional one-page (maximum) statements describing why the Nominee should be considered for membership on the Emory College Alumni Board. Self-nominations are welcome and encouraged.
